THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

An Effort to Stop Webster's Oratory-Mr.

Parnell Seeks Rest at the Seaside. LONDON, Oct. 26 .- The Parnell commission again listened to Attorney-general Webster's presentation of the Times case to-day. The speaker continued to recite a catalogue of outrages supposed to be traceable to members of the league, and then quoted from speeches of Mr. Dillon and other Parnellites to prove their support of the Plan of Campaign. He dealt in succession with a series of utterances made by William O'Brien and others, to show their sympathy with outrages, and intimated an intention to deal at length with violent orations of league members made in County Clare during the years 1885, 1886 and 1887. At this, Presiding Justice Hannen's patience secmed to be exhausted, and leaning forward he asked the Attorney-general if he did not think he had already given sufficient indication of the line of argument be intended to adopt. Sir Charles Russell, counsel for Parnell, suggested that the the speeches he meant to quote from and thus save time. The Attorney-general replied that he must deal with all Irish counties he had picked out as affording the most striking proof of the character of the league's agitation. He quite understood Justice Hanmen's hint, and he was desirous of adopting any practical suggestion which would enable him to shorten his remarks. The Attorney-general concluded his remarks by stating that men who had actually participated in outrages would be called as witnesses, and they would tell what mousy had been paid to them and how the crimes they were hired to commit were arranged. The court then adjourned until Tues-

The disappearance of Mr. Parnell, two days ago, and his subsequent absence, have thrown the gossips and guessers into an acute stage of curiosity and violent theories of speculation. It at the seaside from the excessive weariness caused by the monotony of Sir Richard Webster's long-drawn-out speech, and will be a pret-ty regular attendant at the sittings of the commission when the taking of testimosy begins. The Parnellites, meanwhile, are analyzing the address of the Attorney-general, and express great surprise at the numerous discrepancies and inaccuracies therein concerning the simplest matters of fact. They express the utmost confidence in their ability to demolish with exce the entire structure of the case as presented, and intimate that the Times may expect more trouble from the police reporters it has called as witnesses than from any other persons who will testify in its behalf. Justice Hannen allowed the Attorney-general the fulless istitude in presenting his case, but will vigorously repress all attempts to introduce irrelevant testimony. In these circumstances it is difficult to see how any considerable number of the Times's witnesses can reach the witness-box.

ARCHÆOLOGISTS WRECKED.

The Expedition Sent Out by the Pennsylvania University Shipwrecked.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—The Babylonian expedition of the University of Pennsylvania, which left this city for the Orient early last summer, has been shipwrecked in the Mediterranean sea. The expedition was to have reached Palestine about the beginning of October, and would have proceeded thence directly to the eite of Babylon and Nineveh, the ancient canitols of Assyria, in order to begin archæological excavations. Instead of being at the present time engaged in digging up and bringing to light the remains of a by-gone civilization, the members of the expedition are themselves outcasts on an island in the Mediterranean, with most of their baggage and scientific apparatus lest or seriously damaged, and with little prospect of being conveyed to their point of destination. The news of the mishap reached here yesterday afternoon. The communication, which is from Prof. H. V. Hilprecht, the Assyriologist of the party, is dated Oct. 2, and announces that the steamer bearing him and Drs. Field, Harper and Haynes, was wrecked Saturday night, Sept. 29, on a rock off the island of Samos. After thirty-six hours of waiting a Turkish brigantine took off the passengers and landed every one in safety on the island, where they still were at the date of the communication. In conclusion, Prof. Hilprecht says: "When we shall be rescued from here is at present unknown, but we are all well and happy in our miserable condition, and the journey will be continued with equal courage."

The following dispatch from Marseilles taken from one of the German newspapers and was received by Prof. Seidensticker: "The packet steamer Sindh, which sailed from this port Sept. 21, for Egypt and the Levant, was wrecked off cape Dominico, off the island of Samos. There was, fortunately, no loss of life, but it is alleged the cargo has been seriously damaged. The captain of the vessel, Frnech by name, had intended to make this his last 70y age on account of old age. The cause of the accident is not known."

The expedition sailed on the Fulda, June 23. The expedition was projected by E. W. Clark, a banker, and C. H. Clark. It took shape in a meeting held at the residence of the provest of the university, Dr. Wm. Pepper, in November last year. A number of gentlemen subscribed towards such an expedition and organized themselves into the Babylonian exploration fund. The staff of explorers consisted of Rev. John P. Peters, professor of Old Testament literature and languages in the department of Biblical learning in the divinity school of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, director; Dr. R. F. Harper, of Yale College, and Prof. H. V. Hilprecht, of the University of Pennsylvania. Effect of the Rejection of the Treaty and Passage of the Exclusion Bill. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.-The steamer Arabic arrived from Hong Kong and Yokahama this afternoon. The Japan Gazette has a statement. published in the Chinese Times, to the effect that the action of the Chinese minister to the United States in the matter of the treaty which was recently rejected by the Chinese government excited so great animosity in Cauton that endeavors were made by an angry mob to wreck the minister's house. The Chinese Times also contains a letter signed by a Pekin official, and written just after the news had reached China that the United States Senate had passed the Chinese exclusion bill. Following is an extract from the letter:

"If the obnoxious American bill should be carried into effect, there will be no other course for China, consistent with her dignity nation, than to adopt retaliatory measures by prohibiting citizens of the United States from coming to Chius. This will be by no means proportionate to the harm done to the Chinese interests in America, but it will have to be done in order to show that the Chinese can do the game thing, and if this will have no effect in bringing the United States Congress and the United States government to reason and fairness, then it will be a question for China to con-sider whether it is not for her to cancel her treaties made with that country, to recall her subjects from there, to expel all the United States citizens from this country, and to cease all relations and intercourse, diplomatic and commercial, with that country."

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Why Emperor William Decided to Postpone His Visit to Spain.

LONDON, Oct. 26 .- It has been decided that Emperor William's visit to Spain shall not take place till spring, but the probabilities are that it will not take place even then. The reason given for this is that he cannot take a direct land route to Madrid without traversing the entire length of France, which it obviously would be impossible for him to do, nor could he reach the Spanish capital by a sea journey without passing through the English channel. Should he take the latter route he must necessarily, as a matter of decency, land in England. Not to do so would unquestionably increase the tension between the Loudon and Berlin courts, while a visit to the British isles at this time would be quite as repugnant to his feelings, not to say fruitful of insuit, as would his passage through France.

Russian Prisons and Prisoners.

London, Oct. 26.-The correspondence between Secretary Tallack, of the Howard Association, and Mr. Salomans, secretary of the Russian prisons administration, apropos of Mr. George Kennan's Century articles upon the Siberian exile system, has been made public. Mr. Salomans expresses astonishment at the statements in regard to Russian prisons and prisoners made by Mr. Kennan, but says he has ong ceased to pay any attention to opinions expressed in foreign periodical publications. He has satisfied himself that Russia cannot expect fair treatment from them, for he has found that in them gross ignorance goes band in hand with blind hatred of Russia.

Mr. Hand's Gift for Education.

New York, Oct. 26.-William Washburn, ation, gave some further particulars last night about the gift of Daniel Hand to the association. Mr. Washburn said that Mr. Hand had been thinking for some time of giving $1,000,-000 for educational purposes for the benefit of the negroes in the old slave States. Long and cereful inquiry led him to select this association as his agent, and the gift was paid over on Monday as a trust fund. Mr. Hand was particular to designate the States in which the fund will be used as "the States in which slavery was recognized in 1861," that is, the slave States. The conditions of the fund are simple. The association is to use the income from any securities it sees fit for investments. The income will be between $50,000 and $60,000. The face value of the securities is $1,000,000, while the market value is a little more. Individual expenditure is limited to $100 per year. The money can be paid to the individual or to the schools. Mr. Washburn explained that $100 might not seem a large amount, but a scholarskip of $70 at Hampton Institute, Virginia, will support a negro or an Indian for a year-together, of course, with the industrial work.

Chinese Boycott American Goods. NEW YORK, Oct. 26.-The following Chinese circular has just been received by the Chinese merchants in New York from their home offices in Hong Kong and Shanghai:

These are the articles now prescribed: Petroleum, white sheeting, all kinds of American calico, watches and American fire-arms, ginseng root and Advertising Manager Missing.

Sr. Louis, Oct. 26.-Thomas A. Richerdson, advertising manager of the St. Louis Furniture Magazine, is missing. He came to this city Aug. 27 last and accepted a position on the paper referred to. He then said he was an old newspaper man and had been dramatic critic for the New York Times for a number of years. H. A. Young, with whom Richardson resides, states he has not seen him since Wednesday. F. H. Burgen, proprietor of the Furniture Magazine, is vigorously pushing the search for the missing man, and fears he has become insane and wandered away, or worse-committed suicide. Richardson was left a goodly sum of money by his father, and recently lost $90,000 in a land speculation in California. A favorite daughter's death added to his troubles, hence the theory of suicide. It is also said that foul play is suspected.

Yeater was very jesious of his wife, who had threatened to leave him. He armed himself with a pistol and went to a neighbor woman's house, where his wife was visiting, and shot her in the forehead. He then placed the pistol to his temple and fired. Both died almost instantly. Yeater left a letter to his employer. stating his great love for his wife, and that her failure to return it had driven him to desperation; that if she did not repent and reform before the 31st he would do the dead. An Appeal for the Votes of Soldiers. Soldiers, Comrades-You know I am no politician. You know I have no money, no office. and want none. I beg you all to vote for Harrison and Morton. Why? Every reason in earth, and heaven, and hell. Elect Cleveland, and down go your pensions, and on go the rebel pensions. Elect Harrison, and we all get arrears back to 1865. Hundreds of thousands of us who got pensions, but got no back pensions, our bounty will be equalized at $8.33 per month. Every man of us will get from $2,000 to $3,000. That will secure us from want and a pauper's home, and make us comfortable in old age. Do you want to go to the Soldiers' Home or the poor-house? Vote for Cleveland. Do you all want to go on at $12 a month pension! Vote for Harrison. Tariff-nonsense. Financenonsense. That is nothing to us. We cast 400,000 votes never cast before-our sons'. We own 1,500,000 votes of our own. If you want to elect Cleveland you can do it and never rise above a $2 to a $4 pension, and see all the rebels pensioned. If you all want $12 a month, $144 a year, vote for Harrison. That is my reason for voting for Harrison. PRIVATE DALZELL

From the German archives for Sociale Geselzgeburng it is learned that the bakers of Holland work sixteen hours a day through the week. except on Fridays and Saturdays, when they work twenty-six hours without intermission. In the tailoring firms women and children work till midnight. Day and night work prevails in the bakeries, steam mills, breweries, vinegar factories, sugar refineries, and almost all industries. Where work is done in relays, if men are ill or away the others must work on their time. Stretches of thirty-four and thirty-six bours' work are mentioned as sometimes occurring. The average day in the great majority of the factories is thirteen or fourteen hours. In one province 39 per cent of the total number of work-people were women and children, and the number everywhere is increasing.

A Remarkable Fast Recalled.

Wabash Special. The marriage, in this city, of Miss Elizabeth Oswalt to George Shillinger, of Roam, recalls the remarkable fast made by the laty in 1882, which attracted the attention of medical men in various parts of the country. Miss Oswalt at the time was living with her parents, four miles north of this city, and was thirty years old. Her first trouble was that it pained her to take food, so she concluded to do without. It was thought at the time that the trouble was caused by a disordered nervous system. At the end of ten weeks the lady had become very weak and emaciated, and it became evident that the end was near. The patient lay in a stapor and was unable to recognize any one. Her hands were shriveled and were as white as srow, showing no trace of blood. She was greatly worried by that she was trying to starve herself. On the contrary, she had made every endeavor to eat and drink, without avail, as her stomach rebelled. She was frequently siezed with severe retchings, which left her greatly exhausted. meanwhile the patient's tempature remained normal, and her pulse averaged eighty. The attending physician contemplated trying infu-sion of blood, but it was thought best not to make the experiment. After the seventy-fifth day the faster began to mend, and partook of a little nourishment, principally lemonade, and followed this up with mineral water, when it was found that food was retained, and from that time the patient began to mend rapidly. She is now a strong and healthy lady, and seems to be none the worse physically for her long fast, which, in some respects, was one of the most remarkable on record.

She was about twenty years of age and a general favorite with all who knew her. She was a bright, intellectual girl, and a graduate of the high-school of this city, and also of the Miami University of Oxford, O. This sad ending of her life is a great surprise to her friends, and no one is found who even surmises the cause of her sufcide. She belonged to one of the best and most wealthy families of this city, and the news casts a gloom over the entire community.

went to the hotel of John Morris, and were sitting in the bar-room when John Williams stepped out on the porch, called Jordan, and attacked him with a knife. Jordan pulled his pistol out and fired two shots at Williams, shooting him in the abdomen, killing him instantly. Immediately after firing the shots Jordan left the hotel. The noise of the fight below aroused the aleepers, who came rushing down. Among them was Charley, the younger brother of John Williams. Seeing his brother lying on the porch dead, he became so enraged that he procured a hatchet and started in pursuit of Jordon, to avenge his brother's death. Overtaking Jordan about 100 yards from the scene of the first killing, he attacked him with the hatchet. Jordan, who was entirely defenseless, having lost his pistol in the previous fight, was in the power of the enraged Williams. He felled him to the sidewalk and literally chopped his head to pieces. Williams then came to this place and surrendered himself.

The result was that both struck the tree fairly and both had their necks broken. The harness and wagon, also, were torn to pieces.

The ticket-scalpers are complaining of the quiet times. Their stock of return excursion tickets being exhausted, they are now confined to the few tickets that they can pick up from parties who have partly used them. The past summer, however, has been a very favorable one for the scalpers, and they can afford, says one of them, to take matters easy until a new rate-war is on. President Ingalls, of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis & Chicago, and the Chesapeake & Ohio railroads, is making frequent visits to this city, and is talking in the most enthusiastic manner of the present condition and the prospects of the system which has been formed by the virtual union of the above properties. Its prospects he considers very bright. In conversation recently with a prominent operator, Mr. logalis stated that his main reason for never taking the "Big Four" into St. Louis, is that he considers that St. Louis has reached its full importance as a distributing center for Eastern and Southern railroads, and this particularly because of the competition of Kansas City and other points. He thinks that Chicago is the proper point for a system such as he controls to select as its terminus. - New York Bulletin.

BRYCE'S BREELD. THE SWEETEST AND MOST NUTRITIOUS

road commission of that State to extend the time for applying the new apparatus to their passenger equipments. The Chicago Car Service Association, composed of the general managers of all the roads centering in that city, has by a unanimous vote tendered the chairmanship of the organization o E. D. Moore, the present chairman of the Western classification committee. The offer has not yet been accepted, but it is generally agreed that Mr. Moore cannot in justice to himself decline it, as the position is a much more important one than he now occupies.

The Mexican National Railroad Company, a short time ago, completed track-laving on the gap in its main line, which had, up to that time, separated the northern and southern divisions of the system. It is now announced that the company will shortly begin the running of through passenger and freight trains between its porthern terminus, in the United States, and the City of Mexico, furnishing a second all-rail line between the United States and Mexico.

A Reverend Prohibitionist for Harrison. LaGrange Standard.

Rev. I. C. Bicknell, of Wolcottville, has been among those who were claimed by the Fisk and Brooks partisans as a convert from the Republican party, and his name has been frequently nsed by the Fisk men as an example to point to, to influence doubting voters as to their duty in this campaign. It will consequently be of more than usual interest to the public to say that the Standard is authorized by Mr. Bicknell to state that after weighing all the considerations that hould influence a man who desires to vote for the best interests of his country, he has decided to vote, not for Fisk and Brooks, but for Harrison and Morton. He will support the Republican State ticket, trusting that in case of victory, the communities will be given the right to decide by local option whether or not the saloon curse shall be allowed to continue.

Progress in Railroads.

As England leads in ships, America leads in railroads. Not only are there more miles of railroad here than in any other country, but in elegance and comfort, and every appliance for accuracy and safety we ontstrip the world. The latest, and perhaps the most important, railroad safety invention is the non-magnetic watch. In these days of telephones, electric lights, electric railroads and all such things, dynamos and electric motors are met with everywhere, and one can never know when he is within their influence. For a railroad man this may at any time be a fatal fact, for that influence ruins a watch, and what is a railroad man with a watch not to be depended upon? The railroad man these days must have a watch utterly unaffected by the strongest magnet. It is an absolute necessity to him. Every piece of handle a car iron. The watch that is positive proof against such influences at all times and under all circumstances is the Palliard nonmagnetic watch. It is of the newest model, contains every improvement, and is unqualifiedly indersed by the most renowned horalogists, electricians and scientists of the world. For excellence of finish, beauty, strength, durability and accuracy as a time-keeper it is unsurpassed. There is a great display of these watches to-day at Bingham & Walk's, 12 East Washington street. It is a sight to see, sure l enough Den't miss it.

Sixty in One Family for Harrison.

To the Editor of the Philadelphia Press. Sir-I think I have a great family record in voters. If we live until November, in addition to myself, my five sons, four sons-in-laws, and five grandsons will all vote for Harrison and Morton. Counting all those descended from my father there will be sixty votes in our family for the Republican ticket. My father was in the revolution as a drummer boy with Washington. and many a time rode the latter's horse. He taught us that the best thing in this world was to be good Christians, and the next best was always to vote in our country's interest in preference to that of Great Britain or any other ISAAC GOSS.

HUNTINGDON, Aug. 11, 1888.

Colored Men in Boston. Boston Transcript.

There will be the largest colored vote ever thrown in Boston, a fortnight from to-day. And the black man cannot be shaken from his allegiance to the party which he believes made him free. Colored citizens are far more mindful of their political duties this year than ever before. They have been very prompt at registering. The number that can be turned out from a single house is sometimes surprising.
